Extracts.

MAGALI.
The following beautiful song occurs in "Mirella," a poem by Mirella, the great Provincial poet. It is intimated by Red Chanc T. Brooks:

"Magali! my darling! dearest!
A mother's love, a mother's care!
Of violin and tambourine,
The stars in heaven shine bright and keen,
The air is at its clearest,
But pale the morning star shall be
At sight of thee!"

"My heart always goes by me,
When I am alone, and even lonely;
While I sing, I sing, I sing, I sing;
Denech he joyous, I am he."
—O Magali! if this it please!"

"As fish to fly me,
Then I will be."
—And then will be,

"I go to where the flowers fall,
And stay thy art the rose to kiss;
I, as a bird, over hill and hollow,
Will fly to the inland trees!"

"—O Magali! and shouldst thou flee?
Sweet is the bough,
Then I will be."
—And then will be;

"The sun and the shade, the spring and summer,
For there must set thy sun with snow,
In, in the grass with white that hour
Among the modest amonies."

"—O Magali! if this it please!"

"To be a bow,
A heart, a hand, a shoulder, I will be;
The drowsy sleep that I will be,
That drowsy sleep!"

"Girls is a brook, fresh, lush and bower;
I'll be a cloud and cast with ease!"

"And then enjoy my liberty!"

"—O Magali! and shouldst thou flee?
To Indian tower,
A tree, a rock, a sea, a straight will be,
And every tree!"

"And shouldst thou be the shadow,
Through land and brak that dash and dash,
Then I, pale moon, through heaven will wander,
Wander over the encumbered sky?"

"—O Magali! if this it please!"

"But shouldst thou be the sun,
A real sun, not I?"

"And shouldst thou be a misty shade,
The disappointment will not cross,
I'll be the rose, whose thorn defend her,
Brathing her fragrance all in peace!"

"—O Magali! if this it please!"
